

Observations: Cohort of Subjects with Successful Performance on Study Endpoints

We identified a cluster of subjects who lowered both blood glucose and BMI in order to understand whether phenotypic (behavioral) characteristics could help explain this promising response.

